

Anisa Hasanhodžić, Rifet Rustemović, Heidemarie Uhl (eds.), Being A Refugee: A European Narrative (Vienna: Austrian Academy of Sciences, Institute of Culture Studies and Theatre History, 2018)

Contents

Being a Refugee. A European Narrative

Anisa Hasanhodžić, Rifet Rustemović and Heidemarie Uhl

I

Flight and Expulsion as Forms of Man-Made Forced Migration

Stefan Troebst

Becoming a Refugee. Some (Preliminary) Sociological Notes on Identity and Forced Migration

Ana Mijić

Forced Migration on the Balkan Route in the Longue Durée

Tea Perinčić

II

The Refugee Experience on the Isonzo Front during the First World War

Kaja Širok

A Multinational Haven for Refugees? The Interwar Kingdom of the South Slavs

Ana Ćirić Pavlović

Dalmatian WWII Refugees in El Shatt, Egypt: Narratives of Sanctuary and Suffering

Gabi Abramac

The Fort Ontario Refugee Shelter

Anisa Hasanhodžić and Rifet Rustemović

Structure and Agency in the Forced Displacement of Eastern Poles to Western Poland in the Aftermath of the Second World War

Christopher Lash

The Resettlement, Flight and Internment of the Germans in Yugoslavia, 1941–1960

Carl Bethke

III

The Reception of Refugees and Displaced Persons in Tuzla

Goran Karišik and Esaf Lević

Presenting and Collecting Flight and Persecution in the Wien Museum

Gerhard Milchram

Memories of Loss

Vida Bakondy

From Bosnia to Europe and the World Beyond: The Refugee Experience at Sarajevo's War Childhood Museum

Harun Buljina and Jasminko Halilović

Welcome to Borderland. The Proliferation of Borders on the Balkan Corridor during the European Refugee Crisis as an Expression of Contemporary Biopolitics

Duško Petrović